

NFGS News Podcasts, Webinars & Videos

From our Nordic Finance project, we want to give you a short update of what is going on the communication side.

Collaboration with “Rig på Viden”

First of all, we are happy to share with you that we have initiated a collaboration with the podcast Rig på Viden. The idea is to disseminate our research articles in a more accessible way in podcast format.

Lars Ohnemus was guest in the February episode where he talks about fit and proper rules, based on the article written by himself and Hanne Søndergaard Birkmose: “Should directors in the financial sector only consist of older men with a master's degree in economics and a Danish passport?”

You can read the article here and listen to the podcast here.

The podcast and article are in Danish but there will be at least two podcast episodes in English coming up – one with Tom Kirchmaier and one with Jonas Hedman.

Below you can see an overview of which researcher and topic that are planned for the coming period.

You can also listen to the podcast on your favourite podcast app:

In March Lars Christensen Research Associate at NFGS and CEO of Markets & Money Advisory will talk about "Cryptocurrency and money in a historical perspective." Invitations will be sent out soon but please save the date the 25th March from 14.00-15.00.

Three videos about NFGS II

We have also produced three videos, where Lars Ohnemus, talks about some of the research topics that we will focus on in our project NFGS II. In the first video Lars talks about some of the strategic challenges that the financial sector is facing today, the second video is about the composition of boards in the financial sector, and the third video is about sustainable finance.
